

5 STRATEGIES

FOR DEALING WITH SKELETON STAFF

The festive holidays are a particularly vulnerable time in the workplace. Employees can be distracted by the fun of the holiday season, and there's often just a skeleton staff as many workers take time off.

PREVENT A BREACH WITH THESE STRATEGIES:

- 1 Establish a Clean Desk Policy. Employees should lock down all computers and equipment and leave their area locked and clear of documents.
- 2 Implement a fraud hotline. According to the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, more than 40% of all employee fraud is detected by a tip - mostly from other employees.
- 3 Create a culture of security with a comprehensive information security policy. A security committee headed by a CISO (Chief Information Security Officer) is recommended.
- 4 Educate staff on the latest internet scams. Top holiday scams are published by various companies including phony shipping notifications, deceptive advertising with dangerous links and charities that don't exist.
- 5 Restrict Access. When taking time off - and taking work with them - employees should remove only the confidential information they need to do their jobs.

IN Q3 2016 THERE WERE APPROX. 130 MILLION CYBER ATTACKS PREVENTED IN REAL TIME¹